

Performance level assessment: developing quality and consistency through research partnerships

Kay Sanderson
North Point Institute of TAFE
Queensland

This paper explains the research process undertaken by North Point Institute of TAFE into a system of Performance Level Assessment. As part of a State pilot project into Performance Level Assessment, North Point Institute of TAFE hospitality team has developed a research partnership with Cooloola Sunshine Institute of TAFE hospitality team aimed at improving the quality of the proposed Performance Level Assessment system. Practitioners are using action research to develop assessment review processes. It is intended that these processes will produce a consistent, generic, quality approach to Performance Level Assessment which, in turn, can be translated for use with other Training Packages. [Note: Performance Level Assessment is a type of supplementary evidence assessment system for competency-based assessment.]